

December 11, 2020

I'm still trying to wrap my head around the fact that we have only one more week with students in 2020. Winter break begins next Friday afternoon, December 18th and won't resume until January 4, 2021. I have to admit that I'm not sad to say goodbye to 2020! As you likely read in Dr. Reid's message this past week, teachers have been highly encouraged to reduce the load on homework up until break in an effort to allow some "breathing space" to students and families to recharge. To this end, we've encouraged teachers to format their classes until December 18th to encompass both instruction and time to complete tasks within the 80-minute class period. The most efficient way for students to accomplish these tasks is to log in via Zoom and work with the support of the teacher. We also recognize there may be legitimate reasons why this may not be possible for all classes. Dr. Reid has emphasized the importance for district staff to be able to disconnect as well, which Mr. McNiel and I also support. We hope to partner with you in this effort, allowing each of us all to recharge our batteries. One small way to help with this is to simply reduce the number of emails. You will likely see an "out of office" reply on staff emails to aid this effort. Staff will check emails upon their return to school in January. We value your questions and input, so please don't interpret this as anything other than simply a way to allow each of us time and space to "breathe and recharge".

As always, below are some of the amazing things going on around campus:

Stu Cabe Virtual Assembly – A Huge Success: We had over 650 students attend our all-school assembly with Stu Cabe this past Wednesday. It was a smashing success. The theme was Kindness and was such a powerful message. He used "butterflies" to link his message together. Please be sure to ask your child what they learned about how butterflies and the lump in your throat are connected. Stu is so engaging that you and your child will not want to miss the next assembly. He will be with us two more times: January 6th and February 3rd, both beginning at 9:00 a.m. Mark your calendars so you don't miss them. Zoom links will be published in advance of both. We hope to see you there!

Parent Night Sponsored by the Leota Counseling Team – Another Huge Success: Our counseling team presented via Zoom this past Wednesday. The theme was: Navigating the Times in the Midst of Uncertainty. It had many tips to help kids cope with anxiety, emotions, and creating connections. If you missed it, you can click here to view the PowerPoint. It's also found on the LMS counselor website under "Presentations".

Leota's Family Liaison – Maria Cisneros: The North Urban Human Services Alliance (NUHSA) recognized Maria Cisneros, Leota's Family Liaison, on Tuesday as a nominee for the Human Services Champion of the Year for her outstanding service and contributions to the health and social welfare of North King County. Maria works tirelessly in support of families across our district, especially here at Leota as our Family Liaison. We are so grateful for her efforts and are so proud she is a part of our Leota Family.

Happy Hanukkah: Thursday evening marked the first day of Hanukkah, also known as the Festival of Lights. Jewish people around the world kindled the first of eight candles on the Hanukkah Menorah. We join all our Jewish friends by wishing you a very Happy Hanukkah!

Pearl Harbor Day: Monday was Pearl Harbor Day. Here is some background taken from nps.gov that informs why we recognize this day, "Each year on Dec. 7, Pearl Harbor Survivors, veterans, and visitors from all over the world come together to honor and remember the 2,403 service members and civilians who were killed during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. A further 1,178 people were injured in the attack, which permanently sank two U.S. Navy battleships (the USS Arizona and the USS Utah) and destroyed 188 aircraft."

Information by the Be SMART Program: As families practice social distancing due to Covid-19, many children and teens may be feeling isolated, anxious or bored. One way to provide an extra layer of support and safety is to be sure to store any firearms locked, unloaded and separate from ammunition. Please note that sharing this information is in no way meant to be a political statement nor do we intend to enter into the debate between Second Amendment rights and gun control. It is simply meant to serve as a reminder of one additional way to ensure the safety of our kids. More information can be found by clicking here on the Be SMART website.

Have a fabulous weekend.

Warmly,

Leota Middle School Counseling

December Newsletter 2020

We hope you were all able to relax and connect with family and friends during the 4-day Thanksgiving break. While we know it was very different for most of us (and quite cold if you gathered outside!), we hope everyone still found ways to connect. As we move through these last three weeks before winter break, we offer this gentle reminder to give grace and patience, not only to yourself, but to family members and those around you as well. The holiday break can be exciting for many students, but it can also be a difficult time for others. This year will likely be very different for all of us. We encourage everyone (including ourselves!) to extend a little extra slack, to allow a little more time to connect on the phone (even though many of us don't like all of the phone time - it is the main form of connection for most students right now), and to prioritize family connection time. This can be as simple as dinner together a couple times a week. While students may act like they don't like it, they truly want and need the connection.

In this issue:

1. Tips for coping during Covid (students and adults)
2. Covid's effect on teens, parent information
3. International Days Celebrated in December
4. Holiday fun during Covid

Tips for Coping During Coronavirus as we head into winter and winter break

- Parents, you matter! This article explains how important it is for parents/guardians to take care of themselves as much as possible: <https://childmind.org/article/self-care-in-the-time-of-coronavirus/>
- Tips for Supporting your Teen/Tween: <https://childmind.org/article/supporting-teenagers-and-young-adults-during-the-coronavirus-crisis/>

Helpful Information for Parents/Guardians and Loved Ones to Know

Online school is working well for some, but is hard for most students. As we move into the winter months and toward our extended winter break, students may feel more stressed. Below is some helpful information from Far West Counseling (<http://www.farwestfamilyservices.com/community-resources.html>). This information is very helpful to remind all of us what it may feel like for our child(ren) right now.

1. Kids are drowning in homework. It feels like much more than they received in the past.
2. Organizing their homework is hard. They need executive function skills, which many kids have not developed yet. Many kids are falling behind because of difficulties keeping track of their work, planning their projects, and turning in completed assignments remotely. This is a big source of stress. If this is a struggle, please encourage your student to attend their teacher's office hours and/or reach out to their counselor.
3. Many teens feel isolated and withdrawn. Fear of rejection and lack of emotional energy make it difficult to reach out and connect with friends. Parents can help their kids plan some physically distanced contact with friends or relatives.
4. Teens need to hear from adults that they are cared for; that includes parents, teachers, family friends, and other relatives. I love you, a pat on the shoulder, or a hug can make a huge difference in their day (even if they groan!).
5. Teens need family outings—hikes in the woods, trips to the beach, and visits to friends or family who have been practicing safety measures. Variations in activity and scenery will help break up the tedium of online school.
6. Kids need parents to listen to them without judgement, to talk about their worries and disappointments—no school musical, no school sports, etc. Don't try to problem-solve; just be sad with your child. They just need to know you care.
7. Teens need a break from the stress and chaos of COVID-19, the election, online learning, and social challenges. Create a safe and nurturing environment in your home, and try to keep family stress under control. Allow your kids to do some isolating in their rooms. Alone time in their room is very common and appropriate at this age.

8. If your kids are overly stressed or depressed, they need you to speak up and offer to get them counseling. Talking to another adult can help them sort out their problems and learn some helpful tools. Your kids need you to recognize the signs of depression and suicide and when to get help. <https://stopasuicide.org>. You can always reach out to your student's counselor to get recommendations and referrals.
9. Teens need and want your appreciation for the hard work they are doing in adjusting to online school, trying to complete assignments, and continuing to take safety precautions around COVID-19. It might not always look that way to you.
10. Most of all, your kids need your support, not your criticism. They know they are responsible for completing their schoolwork. We adults can support them in doing this by reminding students of their capabilities and their value to their family and community. Five positives for every one negative can make a huge difference!

Interesting facts about days observed in December

International Day of Persons with Disabilities is December 3

(<https://www.un.org/en/observances/day-of-persons-with-disabilities>)

The annual observance of the International Day of Disabled Persons was proclaimed in 1992 by United Nations General Assembly resolution 47/3. It aims to promote the rights and well-being of persons with disabilities in all spheres of society and development, and to increase awareness of the situation of persons with disabilities in every aspect of political, social, economic and cultural life.

- Of the one billion population of persons with disabilities, 80% live in developing countries.
- An estimated 46% of older people aged 60 years and over are people with disabilities.
- One in every five women is likely to experience disability in her life, while one in every ten children is a child with a disability.

This is an educational and encouraging video by a boy with disabilities:

<https://youtu.be/ccIAqPjwKcY>

International Day of Volunteering is December 5

(<https://www.un.org/en/observances/volunteer-day>)

Over the last months, as the COVID-19 pandemic has ravaged across the world, volunteers have been at the forefront of medical, community and societal responses. Headlines in the world's media have paid credit to volunteers for all kinds of work, from helping to provide medical care, to shopping for vulnerable neighbours, or checking up on elderly people living alone.

- This is a really good article about ways to help during covid:
<https://www.adventhealth.com/blog/10-safe-ways-give-back-during-holidays>

Human Rights Day is December 10 (<https://www.un.org/en/observances/human-rights-day>)

Human Rights Day is observed every year on 10 December — the day the United Nations General Assembly adopted, in 1948, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR): a milestone document proclaiming the inalienable rights which everyone is inherently entitled to as a human being regardless of race, colour, religion, sex, language, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status. Available in more than 500 languages, it is the most translated document in the world.

- Youth can play a crucial role in positive change (you're never too young to change the world!)
- Human rights are relevant to all of us, every day
- Equality, justice and freedom prevent violence and sustain peace
- We need to stand up for our rights and the rights of others

We have heard from you that MATH/ STEM-related enrichment is high on the wish list; We heard from you that your student is enthusiastic about Math, Math puzzles, Math problems and Applied Math scenario analysis - so here at Leota PTSA is excited to offer you with all of these opportunities.

The Math Club program is a free school-wide math enrichment program for middle school students, consisting of a series of challenging and interesting math problems provided to you. The purpose of this program is to engage and challenge students to solve interesting math problems, strengthening their math fundamentals, critical thinking and problem-solving skills - improving their confidence along the way.

What can you expect: We send emails about Math problems, News about Math, Share Math Articles and of course share information on upcoming Math Olympiads.

These opportunities cover problem solving strategies such as drawing a picture or model, making an organized list, looking for patterns, working backwards, and guess and check.

NEW PRACTICE SESSIONS STARTING SOON: We plan to start practice sessions for Math Olympiad preparations. More details will be communicated to parents who have signed up to receive communications from the Math club. If you haven't already, then signup for communication using the link below.
